

Kevin V. Boshea manages a successful defense and appellate litigation practice focusing on criminal defense, appeals and post-conviction relief, with offices in the New Orleans area and Baton Rouge.

He earned his bachelors in criminal justice from the University of Florida at Gainesville and his juris doctorate from Loyola University School of Law. He was admitted to the Louisiana State Bar in 1981, and is admitted to practice in all five Louisiana Courts of Appeal, as well as 37 parishes, and the Supreme Court of Louisiana.

Mr. Boshea began serving as an Assistant District Attorney in Orleans Parish in 1981, and was promoted to Trial Section Senior Assistant District Attorney, Chief of Sex Crimes and Child Abuse, and the Chief of Screening. Since opening a private practice in 1989 he has been a member of the Louisiana Association of Criminal Defense Attorneys, the Louisiana State Bar Association, and the National Register's "Who's Who in Executive Professionals" rankings.

He has taught courses on various legal areas, and was selected to teach in continuing legal education programs sponsored by Loyola University Law School on trial tactics and pretrial procedure, and seminars on organized crime prosecution sponsored by the Louisiana State Police. He has served as the Trial Advocacy Program Judge at Tulane University, and lectured for the Louisiana State Bar Association.
